

MISTAKEN KINDNESS.

The annexed article from our contemporary might have just as well been written for the JOURNAL, and hence we reproduce it in full:

A few weeks ago, during a performance at the theater, Bishop Whitaker stepped on the stage and requested any doctor who was present to go to the depot to attend a patient. A GAZETTE reporter was on the spot as soon as the doctor, and learned that a gentleman named Williams had, in a fit of insanity, cut his throat badly with a pocket knife. The affair was hardly over before Mr. Williams' sister-in-law hunted up the reporters, and requested that nothing be said about the matter. They told her that everybody knew something about it, and it would be far better, for all concerned, to have a plain and correct account given, and thus set at rest the vague rumors that would be generated by incorrect knowledge; that they had no rule, except to tell what happens; that it had probably been telegraphed, and would appear in other papers, and that subscribers to the local papers had a right to expect to be informed of everything that occurs in Reno or vicinity. Nothing would satisfy her, however, and she would not take any answer but a promise to withhold it. She even said it was worth money to her and her friends, and offered to pay well for the favor, but she was quickly convinced that news was not regulated in that way. She followed the proprietors of both papers home, and appealed to them on grounds of humanity, saying that the mortification of Mr. Williams would be so great that it would interfere with his recovery; that his wife was about to be confined, and it would endanger her life if she saw the papers, as the real facts were concealed from her. She urged the point so strongly, and was seconded by Mr. Osburn and Mrs. Laws, who were with her, so earnestly that consent was finally, very reluctantly given, and the fault finding on the street was borne as philosophically as possible. It is very easy to see that it was a mistake to refrain from publishing any such item. No one would have been injured. It was as easy to keep papers from the wife and patient as to prevent gossip in their presence, and it never leads to any good result. The best way is to give a fair account of all the news, and even those whose corns are pinched will recognize the justice and wisdom of the policy when they know that the rule is never broken. Mr. Williams died in Sacramento this week, and leaves a wife and child, so we feel that our promise has been kept, but we will be more careful about making another like it.

A New York dispatch of Sept. 6 says it is stated that Tammany is preparing another of its characteristic raids at the convention to assemble in Buffalo. Kelley's henchmen are said to be securing all the palace cars that can be chartered in advance on the Central-Hudson, the intention being to have a representation of at least one thousand men, every one of whom, to use the language of the committee of arrangements "can be depended on."

The Democratic candidate for Governor of Iowa in a speech recently delivered expressed himself in the following manner: "I am in favor of a saloon on every hill-top, if necessary, and on every roadside, on every street and thoroughfare, and in all public places. The more public the better." He doesn't say a word about "graduated licenses," either. If that man is elected, Iowa will be the Paradise of the saloonist.

The Onward Steamship company are now having built at Glasgow, two new vessels, that are to exceed anything afloat, in combining power and efficiency. They are to be of 8,000 tons burden, with engines of 13,000 horse power, and will cost about three million dollars for the two. Their speed is to be guaranteed, so that they will make the Atlantic trip in less than six days.

A Buffalo paper tells of a lover who began to propose to his girl just as his horse started to run with his sleigh. Being determined to have it over, he got the question out at the moment the sleigh struck a mile post. The girl was thrown high into the air, but as she came down she uttered a firm "Yes, Charlie," and then fainted.

THE LAST SPIKE.

Driving of Villard's Northern Pacific Golden Spike.

HELENA, M. T., September 8.

The ceremonies of driving the last spike in the Northern Pacific were carried out 20 miles west of here today. The attendance of Indians was immense. They gave a war dance last night for the benefit of the strangers. At the ceremonies, Henry Villard made an address of welcome to his guests, and Hon. Wm. M. Everts delivered an oration. He said it was fortunate for us, neither English nor Spanish explorers of the West Coast had discovered the mouth of the Columbia river before our independence was established. It was a New England trading captain, Robert Gray, of the ship "Columbia" that first penetrated the mouth of this river. The entry made in his log book was the title deed of the United States to the region embraced in the State of Oregon and the Territory of Washington against subsequent claims of discovery made by Great Britain, and, in some sort, by Spain. Until the acquisition of California, this region was our sole footing upon the Pacific ocean, and this excited the interest and ambition of the nation for an overland communication with this remote and unpeopled possession. Immediately upon the Louisiana purchase, in 1803, the forecast and energy of Jefferson was shown in the project of the survey of the vast wilderness intervening to discover a practicable route for migration and traffic. Lewis and Clarke executed this task. Starting from St. Louis in May, 1804, they wintered 50 miles above the present town of Bismarck, and came in sight of the ocean on the 7th of November, 1805. Thus, under instructions drawn by the hand of Jefferson himself, the route now occupied by the Northern Pacific railroad was opened to the attention of the people of the United States, and has from time to time engaged their interests, till the dream, the prospect, the project and the effort have ended in the work here and now. Henceforth the transit from the Mississippi to the mouth of the Columbia, and the return, will be made in nine days for the round trip, which occupied the first explorers two years and a half.

As early as 1834 a village physician in Western Massachusetts, Dr. Samuel Barlow, the father of Mr. Barlow of New York, well known on both sides the Atlantic as an eminent solicitor, pressed upon the attention of his countrymen the vast importance and the clear feasibility of such an enterprise. He writes: "My feeble pen would fail me to expatiate on the substantial time enduring glory which would redound to our nation, should it engage in this stupendous undertaking." Willis Gayland Clark, in 1838, in an eloquent exposition of the subject in a leading magazine, asserted that "the reader is now living who will make a railroad trip across this vast continent."

Postal Notes Voted a Failure. CHICAGO, September 8. From the action of the local banks, and the number of complaints filed at the Postoffice, it appears that the postal notes issued to the public last Monday, are already deemed a failure in this city. A great many began to arrive here within a day or two after the first issue, sent in line of drafts, for small amounts, and were at once deposited as checks or drafts. The numberless mistakes made by postmasters sending them, caused the banks to refuse to accept them, and this action is deemed tantamount of destroying their usefulness. The Postoffice officials also decide that the handling of postal notes, and the work of rectifying errors has entailed an unusual amount of additional labor on the working force.

Proposed Democratic Love-Feast. NEW YORK, September 7. The Tammany Hall general committee has adopted resolutions declaring that Tammany will make every concession consistent with honor, to secure the adjustment of the local difference and providing for the appointment of a committee, composed of one representative from each Assembly district in the city, to confer with the county democracy and Irving Hall, with a view to securing a single and united delegation from the city to the State Convention. Speeches were made, advocating harmony and denying that Tammany Hall is opposed to Governor Cleveland or his administration.

Natives in Exile. Chief Naches has returned to Winne-mucca from a trip through the country north of McDermit. He says there are 313 Putes and some Bannocks in that region. The Putes belong to Leggins', Hatch's and Paddy Cap's bands, and the Bannocks to Beads' band. They were sent to Yakima after the Bannock war in 1878, and last Spring made their escape from that reservation. Naches says they are hunting on Cow Creek and in Harney Valley, and will fight before they go back to Yakima.

The Jottings man only asked the question: "What's the news?" 1,436 times yesterday. The reason he didn't ask it oftener was because he didn't see any more people.

THE ADMISSION OF DAKOTA.

For reasons why Dakota should be admitted as a state, the Black Hills Times hits the nail on the head as follows:

"On March 22, 1883, Dakota had been a territory for 22 years, the act of organization having been approved March 22, 1861. We have passed the years of nonage; we are of age—let us in. We are no longer a big boy, we are larger than New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania together. We are bigger than Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois. We are twice the size of all the six New England states with New Jersey and Delaware thrown in. We have 120,934 square miles of territory and we want to get in. Let us in. We had only 14,990 people in 1870, but we had 135,180 in 1880; and we have 300,000 now. We'll kick the door. Let us in. In ten years more we shall have a million of people. Let Massachusetts beware how she snubs a younger brother as she was sole seignior over our guardian's bond. We don't want any guardian. We are of age. We demand settlement. Open the door. It's cold outside. We are paying our share toward warming up inside. We have been paying for years, standing all the time on the outside shivering. We have settled honestly with the fiddler, but had no share in the dance. Let us in. We want to elect our own Governor and State officers; 300,000 people can do this better than one man. We want representation; we have more people now than Delaware, Florida, Nevada, Rhode Island, Vermont, Oregon or Colorado. Why should these States choose a President for us—a President to appoint our Governor, forsooth? We demand self government. We could raise a larger army to day than the combined forces of Washington, Gates, and Green. More old soldiers are settled in Dakota than fought the battles of the revolution. Let us in. We are of age, able to take care of ourselves, and want to administer on our estate. Let us in. What if we will vote at the next Presidential election? Shall half a million of people be disfranchised for a party exigency? Who knows how we will vote? Who knew Ohio would vote? The only question is, have we a right inside not how we will behave ourselves when we get in there. Shall Dakota be asked to give bonds to either party?

Woe to that which demands it. Let us in. Let us in quick. It's cold out here in Dakota, but we will ask it hot enough for the sectional party that slams the door in our face after 22 years of patient waiting."

Hawthorne News from the Ballot.

Some solid men are purchasing real estate in Hawthorne.

Preparations are being made to begin shipping ore from the Mount Cory mine.

The Northern Belle people think they are on the edge of a very extensive ore body.

S. Kennedy, of Bodie, is contemplating the removal of a lodging house from Bodie to Coryville.

A large shipment of machinery for the reduction works is at Ogden and will arrive in a few days.

The Northern Star mine is still improving, the ledge is wider and the shaft does not take it all out. The rich ore is left on the wall.

Tom Stevens returned from San Francisco last Wednesday. While below he purchased a lodging house on the corner of Sixth and Mission streets, and intends to move his family down soon.

The ranchers of Mason Valley are threshing their grain. The yield will be light. The second crop of alfalfa will not be more than one-half as large as it would have been had there been plenty of water.

The basement walls of the Court House were finished on Monday evening. The first floor joists were put in Tuesday. This will be one of the most substantial buildings in the State, of the quality of the brick enough has already been laid, and the mortar is almost the same as cement. The brick piers are all finished and the filling for the concrete floor of the jail is nearly done.

The Tuscarora Times-Review says of Kim General John R. Kirtell, says the Carson Appeal, is a pronounced candidate for Congress. If Kirtell will quit gesticulating with his better spinal terminus while on the stump, he may get away with the nomination and election.

CIVIL SERVICE APPOINTMENTS.—Since the Civil Service examinations ten appointments have been made from the different classes, those receiving the highest standing being selected in each case. Four of these were assigned as Inspectors of Customs, and two to the clerical and four to the carriers' department in the Postoffice.—Alta.

It is said that deer are gathering in the brush along the Sacramento river in immense numbers. An old hunter reports that he never saw them so plentiful and they are nearly as tame as sheep.

There will be more grain in Shasta county, Cal., this year than was ever harvested before in any one year. Wheat will average 30 and barley 40 bushels to the acre. The largest crops have not been harvested.

Two Cree Indians who had been killed by the South Peigans were found on the prairie near Fort MeLeod, M. T., last week. They were scalped and otherwise disfigured. They had stood back to back and fought until killed.

Gilpin, the foot racer, who is wanted at Sacramento for obtaining money under false pretenses, got wind while in Grass Valley that a telegraphic warrant for his arrest had been received and started on a go-as-you-please walk for parts unknown.

It is proposed by the settlers on the Mussel Slough, Moquelemos grant, El Sobrante Rancho and other land grants, of which portions are claimed by the Central Pacific Railroad Company, to form a protective league. A convention will be held in the near future, in which they will unite in defending all suits against the Central Pacific Railroad Company.

IN A STILL HOUR.

Two Learned Men Have a Talk and Come to a Common Conclusion.

"There can be no question to that," said Dr. Benson, who is prominently connected with a hospital, to his friend, the House Surgeon, as the two sat having a smoke and a quiet chat in the reception room late on a recent stormy night—"no question at all." "Ever since I began practice in that little country village you've heard me speak of, away up near Lake Ontario, thirty years ago, I have felt—in common with all other physicians—the need of a reliable plaster. There are so many diseases—if, indeed, the majority do not come under the rule—for which a good external application is better than remedies poured into a patient's stomach."

"That's so, Doctor, and to show you my faith in your theory, I may say that since I have held my position here, I have opposed the idea of dosing people, except in cases when we were at our wits' end and it seemed to be that or nothing. Some soothing application, if the patient needs anything, combined with rest and good nursing, will do the business—save where cases of accidents require heroic treatment."

"I say, Doctor," said the other, "you can speak of it, or not, just as you like, but in my private practice, when I want anything of the sort, I use BENSON'S CAPSULE PLASTER. It's a proprietary thing, of course, but it is by all odds the best plaster I have come across. It is scientifically prepared, quick in taking hold, sure to relieve where relief is possible, and most as easy to handle. It is just the perfect plaster of all that has ever been done in that line. I happen to know, too, that it is being rapidly introduced in the principal hospitals of London, Paris and other leading cities in Europe."

"You needn't fret, my friend," laughed the House Surgeon, "over the chance of being caught in an act of professional heterodoxy, for we use Benson's here every day, and so they do at the other city hospitals. We find it so much better than liniments, lotions, &c., that the bottles are actually getting scarce in the house."

Benson's plasters are prepared from an improved formula by distinguished physicians and chemists to meet a want felt for years. You will not be disappointed in them. In the middle of the genuine is cut the word CAPSULE. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, New York.

NOMENCLATURE.

How the Various Counties of Nevada Derived Their Names.

Douglas county was named after Stephen A. Douglas; Ormsby, after William Ormsby, an early settler on the eastern slope and one of the founders of Carson City; Washoe, after the tribe of aborigines who formerly inhabited it; Storey, in honor of Capt. Storey, who lost his life in the Indian fight near Pyramid Lake, in the Spring of 1860; Lyon, after General Lyon, who fell in Missouri, during the late rebellion; Humboldt was named after the principal river running through it; Churchill took its name from Fort Churchill, the first military post ever established in this region, so called after an officer in the U. S. army. Esmeralda was named after the principal mining district in it; Lincoln was named after the late President Lincoln; Nye was so denominated out of compliment to ex-Governor Jas. W. Nye; White Pine received its name from a mining district, so called from the species of wood growing upon the mountain; Eureka took its name from the town and mining district so designated by some enthusiastic individual; Lander was named after Gen. Lander. The JOURNAL's research has not enabled it to discover the origin of Elko.

Farming Notes from Lovelocks.

A correspondent of the Silver State says the haying season on the meadows, near Lovelocks, is about over, and farmers are figuring up the quantity they have stacked. H. C. Marker & Co. lead with some 6,000 tons, principally alfalfa. They have had from six to eight mowers running since the 1st of July, and a large force of men stacking hay. Joseph Marzen will stack 4,000 tons, all alfalfa. John Reed, C. Bastian, Henry Larsen, H. W. Fuss, Carpenter & Co. have about 500 tons each. All these gentlemen understand curing alfalfa, and put it up in prime condition. All, with the exception of Mr. Marzen, who will feed his own cattle, will have large quantities of hay to sell, so stock men would do well to visit this section if they want a good article. Marker & Co. and Marzen have, for years past, been seeding their land to alfalfa as fast as they could get it in condition, and are now getting their farms in shape to yield them very profitable returns.

Surprising Figures.

The Eureka Sentinel says: "There are five faro games running in Eureka at present, at an average expense each of $40 per day, or a daily total of $200. In a year the amount expended to keep these five games going is $73,000. This is more than it takes to maintain the Nevada State Prison per annum, with about 125 convicts; considerably more than twice as much as is expended on the Orphan's Home with an average of some 50 odd inmates; much more than is appropriated for the maintenance of the State Insane Asylum. It does not fall short of one-fourth the entire current expenses of the State government; and it is but little more than the annual expenses of the extravagant county government of Eureka. Yet we actually hear complaint of hard times in this community."

Too Much Money.

Rufus Kinney's bees have become altogether too neighborly, so much so that there is danger of their driving his family out of house and home. Last year a swarm of bees established their headquarters under the family dwelling house, but as they didn't disturb anybody, little effort was made to dislodge them. This year shows a vast increase in their numbers, and the little workers are vigorously contesting with the family the right to the possession of the premises. Cold water, hot water, tobacco, sulphur fumes and many other means of warfare have been resorted to, in order to dislodge the pestiferous enemy, but without avail. Millions have been killed without any perceptible decrease in the army, and still the war goes on. Mr. Kinney thinks if he can hold the fort until snow flies, he can win the battle. In any event he will destroy the premises rather than surrender.

Accident at Verdi.

A serious accident happened at Verdi night before last, by which the son of D. Benan, a Frenchman, was very seriously wounded. It appears that Mr. Benan was handling a gun for some purpose when it was accidentally discharged, the charge striking his boy in the leg, just above the knee. Dr. Bergman was telegraphed for and went up and dressed the wound, which he says is a very serious one. The boy had lost so much blood by the time the Doctor got there that little could be done further than to dress the wound and stop the flow of blood. The Doctor thinks the boy will lose the use of the knee joint, and by reason of the great loss of blood may possibly lose his life. The boy was brought to Reno last night in order that he might receive proper care.

A MISSING MEMBER.

The Boyntons Have a Family Reunion but John is Not There.

A convention held in the town hall at Newburyport, Mass., two weeks ago, a description of which was handed in by John Boynton of Reno who is one of the stray sheep of the flock. Over 250 were present and after a couple of hours spent in conversation the meeting was called to order by Dr. John F. Boynton of Syracuse, N. Y. He is writing a history of the family since it landed in 1638. He has the records showing that members of the family have fought in all the wars. They have descended from William and John Boynton, who now have representatives all over the country in every trade and profession. If the one who lives here is a fair sample the founders of the family may look down with pride and pleasure from their home in the other world.

A Singular Coincidence.

A few days ago a telegram appeared in the papers from Commodore English, of the United States navy, relative to yellow fever, the prevailing epidemic at Pensacola, Florida. Reading this dispatch disclosed the fact that in Reno there are at least three gentlemen who hold honorable discharges from service in the navy, and all signed by Commodore English, (their commander) under whom each and all served. These gentlemen are Capt. Henry Johnson, who served in the frigate St. Louis; Benjamin Rhode, in the frigate Congress, and John Courtney, who completed his service on a Mississippi gunboat. Capt. Johnson is watchman at the Insane Asylum; Ben Rhode barkeeper for Jake Becker, and Courtney follows the vocation of a stone cutter.

A Close Call.

A. O. McFarlin had a close call for his life yesterday morning. He had taken a dose of medicine the night before which was to be followed by a cathartic. He started to the drug store for this, but remembered having left a bottle of citrate of magnesia in the shop. He drank about half the bottle and in a few moments was doubled up like a jack-knife. He immediately swallowed an emetic and got rid of the stuff, which he thinks saved his life. All the chemists in the country could not convince him that there was not some kind of poison in that bottle of magnesia.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. Feb. 21-awt-lyr

Ayer's Ague Cure is the only remedy known, which is certain to cure Fever and Ague permanently, by expelling the malarial poison which produces the disease. It does this surely, and leaves no ill effects upon the system. Nothing is so thoroughly depressing and discouraging as the periodical return of the alternate chills, fever and sweating, peculiar to this disease.

NORTHERN MAILS.

The Showing of the Reno and San Francisco Line.

(From the Susanville Advocate).

In our last week's issue we referred to the irregularity of our mails between Reno and Susanville, and as it is not our intention to censure anyone unjustly, we give space below to a letter from Mr. G. W. Meylert, the proprietor of the stage line, which we hope will be a satisfactory explanation to those persons who are most directly interested, and exonerate him from all blame:

JANESVILLE, CAL. Sept. 5, 1883.
EDITORS LASSEN ADVOCATE:—In your issue of Aug. 30th, I notice some very unjust criticisms on the carrying of mails between Reno and Susanville. There is an old schedule of arrival and departure of mails, in the Postoffice at Susanville, made when the East and West bound trains on the C. P. R. arrived at Reno at 1 A. M., that would, if followed now, bring your San Francisco mail one day later than you now receive it. A general rule of the Post office Department would do away with the schedule of several years ago, viz: a close connection with principal mail routes, which could not be done were the mails to leave at 2 A. M. I will make you a present of $100 upon showing me that during the last 14 months the mail carrier has failed to deliver mails at Susanville within the time his contract calls for, viz: 18 hours, from May 1st to October 31st, and 36 hours from November 1st to April 30th. Another point that is often overlooked, viz: that a mail carrier cannot be responsible for careless messes of postmasters, delays in connecting mails, or any delay other than the delivery of the mail placed in his charge, within the time mentioned in the contract. I consider your criticism a very unjust one, from the fact that it is doubtful if there is a half-dozen routes on this coast, that can make the showing of promptness that we are able to do, without a single break for a period of over 14 months.

Very Respectfully Yours,

G. W. MEYLER

Trial of Conkling.

George W. Conkling, Jr., who shot and killed Haverstick, will be brought to trial in the New York Court of General Sessions next month. Conkling has been out in Esmeralda county surveying for the past two months, but is expected to return to Reno in a few days, and will leave for New York in time to be present and answer when his name is called.

Church Notices.

Morning service at the Congregational Church as usual. The evening will be devoted to a praise service by the Choir. Sunday school at 12:30. All made welcome.

A. B. PALMER, Pastor.

The contempt case of Gammons was up in the District Court yesterday, but was not concluded, being continued until to-morrow. It is in relation to water, and a violation of a Court decree ordered in 1878.

There was a pleasant dance at Dennings Hall, Glendale, Friday night, in which many of the Reno young people joined.

IT LEADS ALL.

No other blood-purifying medicine is made, or has ever been prepared, which so completely meets the wants of physicians and the general public as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases. If there is a taint of Scrofula about you, Ayer's Sarsaparilla will dislodge it and expel it from your system. For constitutions of scrofulous Catarrh, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the CATARRH true remedy. It has cured numberless cases. It will stop the nauseous catarrhal discharges, and remove the sickening odor of the breath, which are indications of scrofulous origin.

"Rutto, Tex., Sept. 28, 1882.
"At the age of two years one of my children was terribly afflicted with Ulcerous SORES running sore on its face and neck. At the same time its eyes were swollen, much inflamed, and very sore. Physicians told us that a powerful alterative medicine must be employed. They united in recommending Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few doses produced a perceptible improvement, which, by an adherence to your directions, was continued to a complete and permanent cure. No evidence has since appeared of the existence of any scrofulous tendencies, and no treatment of any disorder was ever attended by more prompt or effectual results.
Yours truly, B. F. JOHNSON."
